THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

Stayer Retires As Dean

THE College's popular Dean of Men, Prof. J. Clyde Stayer, will retire from his position as dean this September, President Calvert N. Ellis has announced.

Professor Stayer, an active church and community leader throughout his 28 years of service on Juniata's faculty, has been Dean of Men on College Hill since 1935. Poor health in the past year has prompted his retirement from that office, but he will continue as assistant professor of mathematics on a regular teaching schedule. Professor Stayer is 56.

At the same time as the announcement of the retirement of Dean Stayer, President Ellis disclosed that J. Melvin Rhodes of Johnstown has been appointed Dean of Students at the College effective September 1, 1947. In this new position, Mr. Rhodes will serve as personnel counselor for men to take over Dean Stayer's duties.

In addition, Mr. Rhodes will be director of admissions and head of the placement bureau to relieve Registrar Pressley L. Crummy and Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe of those additional responsibilities. He also will take over the student employment duties formerly handled by Miss Edith L. Spencer, dean of women.

Mr. Rhodes is now employed as administrative assistant in charge of personnel at the Johnstown

J. CLYDE STAYER '16

Tribune Publishing Company. He served two years in India during the war and was assistant to the chief of staff in the China-Burma-India theater in charge of personnel.

Known as "Prof" to all students, Professor Stayer has built a reputation as "a fair dealer" with the men on campus. His jovial manner and philosophical understanding of problems has been accepted as "standard operating procedure" on College Hill. Of his work, the Dean says that he "just helps to keep the lid on" at the College.

With the influx of veterans in the past two years, Juniata's male enrollment reached its highest peak and greatly increased the burden on Dean Stayer. At the beginning of this semester there were 373 men enrolled. Because of his health, the dean was unable to maintain as active a pace as in previous years.

Among his notable off-campus achievements has been his work as chairman of the Board of Directors of Camp Kanesatake, which is owned by the State Sabbath School Association. Professor Stayer is vice-president of that association.

In community activities, Professor Stayer is a member of the Borough Water Commission and is a member and past president of the Huntingdon Kiwanis Club. His residence is 1618 Moore Street, Huntingdon.

Professor Stayer was graduated from Juniata Academy in 1910 and received his A.B. degree from Juniata College in 1916. Later he did graduate work in psychology and education at the University of Michigan and in physical education at the Y. M. C. A. Training School in Springfield, Mass. In 1934, he received his M.A. degree from the University of Pittsburgh and he did graduate work in mathematics at Pitt for two summers.

Prior to accepting a position on the Juniata faculty, he taught three years in the Kiskiminetas Springs School for Boys and two winters in the public schools of Bedford County. From 1919 until 1923, Professor Stayer was principal of Juniata Academy and director of physical education in Juniata College.

The newly appointed Dean of Students, Mr. Rhodes, is a graduate of Juniata College in the class of 1938. From 1938 until 1941 he was a field representative for Juniata. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo E. Rhodes, R. D. 1, Johnstown.

Mr. Rhodes entered the Army in 1941 as a private, worked his way up through the ranks, and was discharged as a major in April, 1946, after spending two years in the China-Burma-India theater. He was well-trained in personnel work and spent a year as classification and assignment officer for CBI. Later he was on the General Staff in Delhi, India, as assistant to the chief of staff for personnel.

Mr. Rhodes joined the Tribune Publishing Company in Johnstown last June and has been devoting his full time to the firm's greatly expanded program of personnel services. He has been handling the problems of on-the-job training program for plant veterans, the hiring of personnel, their proper placement, and the records of individuals.

On the air became a popular phrase among J. C. students this spring as many of the talented undergrads took part in the series of Juniata On The Air programs which were broadcast each week over Huntingdon's new radio station, WHUN.

A trio of performers were: Geraldine High (top), a sophomore from Norristown, Pa., whose accordion playing was a feature on the "tops in talent" program; Jack C. Buckle (center), Cumberland, Md., junior and next year's editor of The Juniatian, who presented a chatty campus newscast each week; and Glenn Cave (bottom), a sophomore from Altoona with a bright future as a violinist.

Juniata on the Air

A SERIES of weekly "Juniata On The Air" broadcasts over WHUN, Huntingdon's new radio station, has been presented each week from 8 to 8:30 on Wednesday nights since April 16 as a new venture by the college. The series concluded with Commencement.

Arranged by the college's radio committee, the programs began with an all-campus variety show featuring the tops in talent direct from Oller Hall. Talent for the opening show was obtained through a campus-wide "Talent Tapping Time" campaign and auditions were held for all performers.

Competition was most keen for the announcer's job—or "the voice of Juniata College." William Fegan, president of this year's junior class who comes from Palmyra, Pa., was selected for the position from nine contestants. He announced the entire series of broadcasts.

The variety show was followed by a Campus Forum on April 23 in which the timely topic of discussion was "Are You in Favor of a $2400 per year Minimum Wage Law for Teachers in Pennsylvania?" Material for the forum was gathered and prepared by students of Prof. J. Robert Miller's class in statistics.

A dramatic show was presented by members of the Masque on April 30. This was followed by another half-hour of variety on May 7 and an all-musical show on May 14. Another forum was scheduled on May 21 and scenes from "As You Like It" highlighted the broadcast on May 28.

Miss Esther M. Doyle, instructor of speech and dramatics, was chairman of the Juniata radio committee. Other members included Prof. Charles L. Rowland, Prof. Wilbur H. Neff, and A. William Engel, Jr. In addition to Announcer Bill Fegan, other students who participated regularly on the programs were Eugene Ankeny of Windber, who served as moderator of the forums, and Jack C. Buckle of Cumberland, Md., editor of The Juniatian, who gave a Campus Newscast each week.

Take WHUN Posts

CARY H. SIMPSON, a sophomore at the college, is program director of WHUN, Huntingdon's new radio station which opened this Spring. And on the announcing staff are three former Juniati-ans: Michael Croft '45ex, Fred Hutchison (special) and Edward E. Minaya '42.

Juniata's interest in WHUN doesn't stop there, however. Even the organizer and owner of the station, John H. Biddle, is Juniata ex '26. Mr. Biddle is also president and editor of The Daily News in Huntingdon.

Cary, who lives at 210 Second Street, Huntingdon, was employed by Radio Station WMRF, Lewistown, before entering the U. S. Navy. He served as a radarman aboard the USS Wisconsin and the USS Mercury in the Atlantic and Pacific theaters of operation. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Simpson and he is majoring in psychology at the college.

Duties assigned to Cary as program director include the arranging of programs prior to broadcast, direction of those programs while on the air and the development of a follow-up system to result in a continuing, smooth broadcasting schedule. Talent for WHUN programs is contacted through his office.

Mike Croft, Fred Hutchison and Ed Minaya form three quarters of the four-man announcing staff assisting Cary Simpson and Station Manager Samuel L. Stroh.

Converting a structure from wartime use as a barracks to peacetime use as a classroom is depicted in this layout of photographs. Originally, the building shown here was located at Fort Washington, Md., but now it is serving to alleviate the crowded classroom problem at Juniata.

Classroom in Operation

JUNIATA COLLEGE'S temporary classroom building, one of the first provided and erected at a Pennsylvania college by the Federal Works Agency for overcrowded colleges offering education to veterans, was formally turned over to the college in exercises on College Hill in March.

A representative of the FWA from Washington, Research Planning Officer Jay Du Von, spoke briefly in the ceremonies held in Oller Hall. He keynoted his remarks with the statement: "These structures having served an essential purpose in the days of war will now be used in a fundamental service for peace."

Formal presentation of the deed to the barracks-type classroom building was made by William F. Finley, district engineer of FWA from Harrisburg. President Calvert N. Ellis accepted the deed on behalf of the college and expressed his appreciation for this "essential contribution to our campus."

Daniel E. Sell, new president of Juniata's Senate and a veteran of World War II, offered an ex-serviceman's viewpoint in "being grateful for such facilities provided through surplus property."

J. FOSTER GEHRETT '16

Perhaps never in modern times has there been so much uncertainty in the world as at present. We have had a long and destructive world war. All of our productive machinery has been tool-ed for the purpose of making en-gines of destruction. Vast armies have been trained to destroy not only life but especially property. This period of overthrow of the results of long and careful econ-omy and the production of little that is useful has left us sadly lacking in even the bare necessi-ties of food, clothing and shelter. Under these circumstances we must expect to have a lower stand-ard of living until we have rebuilt what we have destroyed.

The most significant result of the war is the breakdown in morals and morale. The brutal consequences of war always create a lower moral standard among people. The lack of economic goods produces a dissatisfaction with government and with the established order. Now many of our statesmen and scientists are like the partly intoxicated man who sees no other remedy for his condition than to drink himself into a stupor. They would have us believe that we must continue to create means of destruction until we finally destroy ourselves. They say that there is no constructive solution to our problem.

All real progress toward the achievement of happiness is made by the practice of unselfishness in one's home community where it can be effective, and not in mor-alizing about how people should conduct themselves on the other side of the world.

The small Christian colleges have always attempted to instruct their students in the ways of happy, healthy living. Teachers have gone into the service of teaching from these colleges with the intention of living useful lives in their communities. They have known that their chances of be-coming wealthy in the ordinary sense were slim indeed, but they have expected to reap a rich har-vest of satisfaction in teaching children how to live well and productively.

These little, unspectacular peo-ple who know that "man cannot live by bread alone" may save the world from the fate that is pre-dicted for it by their more promi-nent and more scientific brethren. They may make the world of to-morrow a better place in which to live than it is today, or even than it was yesterday.

late summer reunion of California alumni. Chicago alumni met first on March 15; however, the major-ity of the annual dinners were held in the month of April.

The nature of the entertainment varied more this year than usual with drama and music prevailing. At Washington a magician (not Dr. Henry but Clyde Berkebile) was featured. Somerset County featured a ten-year-old lad who improvised his own music for pop-ular trumpet solos. Huntingdon and Altoona set up a stage for a cast of forty freshman players who portrayed the founding of the col-lege in a pantomime, "On the Sands of Time." The same produc-tion was taken to Johnstown with a reduced cast of eleven.

Under the direction of Prof. C. L. Rowland, six of Juniata's musi-cians, three graduates and three undergraduates combined their talents to give an all-music pro-gram in New York City. They in-cluded: Mr. '43 and Mrs. '41 Gar-wood Holsinger, both graduate students at New York University; Mr. Alfred Alcorn '40, a graduate student at Columbia; Miss Alberta Glasgow, Miss Elaine Hay, and Mr. Philip Holsinger.

Speakers at the banquets in-cluded trustees, faculty, and alumni. President Emeritus C. C. Ellis appeared at Lewistown; President Calvert N. Ellis at Chi-cago, Huntingdon, and Waynes-boro; trustee William R. Flory at Cleveland; Prof. J. Clyde Stayer at Philadelphia; Prof. T. F. Henry at Bedford, Somerset, and Waynesboro; Prof. Wilbur Neff at Pittsburgh, Mt. Pleasant and Johnstown; Miss Esther Doyle at York, and alumnus Paul M. Rob-inson '35 at York.

Alumni Dinners

WHEN the Juniata New York-ers met at the Savarin Res-taurant on Saturday night, May 10, another season of alumni din-ners was closed, that is, except a liam Blough, and Mr. '41 and Mrs. '40 Greer Bailey.

The Alumni Secretary, Harold B. Brumbaugh, attended all local dinners except Chicago and Southwestern Pennsylvania. Because of the difficulty in locating satisfactory places, some officers were required to move the place of meeting from hotels to churches. There is always real fun and fellowship at these local association affairs so all Juniata's are encouraged to plan to attend next season.

Here and There

JUNIATA'S faculty went modern in a dreary sort of way one night last March when a unique, simulated television version of the resurrection of the college's late dead past was enacted. An all-faculty cast presented a series of skits as a highlight of the faculty stunt night for students.

Walter Baker, distinguished American organist, presented an organ recital in Oller Hall in March as another in the college's series of public musical entertainments. Mr. Baker is director of music at the First Baptist Church in Philadelphia and a member of the faculty of the Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J.

E. Ruth Steele, a junior from Marshallton, Del., was awarded first prize in the annual Joseph F. Biddle General Information contest which was conducted at the College on April 12. Jack C. Buckle, another junior from Cumberland, Md., won the second prize.

Dr. A. J. Brumbaugh, vice chairman of the American Council on Education, Washington, D. C., was entertained by the Faculty Club at a tea during April. Dr. Brumbaugh spoke at chapel and addressed the faculty informally in the afternoon.

Huntingdon's new home service secretary for the American Red Cross is Miss Betty Fleck, formerly instructor in physical education for women at the College. Miss Fleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I.

Wallace Fleck of Huntingdon, took her new position this winter.

Jack C. Buckle, Cumberland, Md., has been recently appointed editor-in-chief of the "Juniatian," student weekly news publication, to mark the end of a seven year period in which the position was held by a woman. He succeeds Miss Betty White.

For many years, President Emeritus C. C. Ellis has been considered one of the most widely traveled men in Huntingdon. He has spent a great many hours on trains, busses, cars and all other imaginable types of transportation—and never had been involved in an accident. That is not until April 7 when he was aboard the Gotham Limited which jumped the rails at Columbia City, Ind. Dr. Ellis was not injured.

"Korea Today" was the subject of Miss Iuduk Pakk, Korean representative of Women's Rights at the United Nations, who addressed the annual YWCA formal banquet at the College in April.

Dr. Raymond Veh, nationally known youth leader and prominent in Christian Endeavor work, delivered the address at the season's concluding vesper service held in Oller Hall, April 20. Dr. Veh is editor of The Builders, young people's journal of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Student Elections

IN all-college elections on campus this Spring, students selected Daniel E. Sell of Altoona as president, Harry N. Maclay of Belleville, vice-president, and M. Elizabeth Kiracofe of Huntingdon, secretary, to head the 1947-1948 Senate.

This trio succeeded Glenora M. Edwards, Raymond Clapperton and Gladys Johnson at the annual

Move-Up Day ceremonies held in April.

Two women and six men, five of them service veterans, were elected to the eight chairmanships on the Senate. Those selected were: Chairman of General Activities, Vivian B. Souder, Souderton; Chairman of Social Activities, William Fegan, Palmyra; Chairman of Religious Activities, Edwin E. Crist, Windber; Chairman of Women's House, Edwarda Skelly, Tyrone; Chairman of Men's House, Samuel E. Woffindin, Lansdale; Chairman of Athletics, Paul H. Kleffel, Altoona; Chairman of Freshmen, Francis M. Lehner, Tyrone; Chairman of Publications, Jack C. Buckle, Cumberland, Md.

By special appointment, William P. Nyce of Lansdale, junior business administration major, was named Central Treasurer for the student government.

In class elections, Francis M. Lehner, Tyrone, was elected president of the Class of 1948—next year's seniors. William Fegan, Palmyra, has been president during the past year. Elected to vice president was Samuel M. Hastings of Cambridge, Md. E. Ruth Steele, Marshallton, Del., has been named secretary-treasurer.

Other class elections resulted as follows:

Class of 1949—President, Robert E. Malone, Hollidaysburg; vice-president, Richard W. March, Scottdale; secretary, Mrs. Richard W. March, Scottdale; treasurer, William J. Allmond, Altoona.

Class of 1950—President, William M. Wright, Jr., Milton; vice-president, Charles R. Dillen, Altoona; secretary, N. Katharine Long, Baltimore; treasurer, Robert L. Charles, Tyrone.

Mr. and Mrs. March, only husband-wife combination in Juniata's student government, were re-elected to their posts for a second year. Miss Long and Robert Charles also were re-elected in their class.

Even the senior attendants to the May Queen became air-minded (at least for a minute) and hopped into the cockpit of a plane to be prepared just in case the Queen wanted to carry out the novel idea of flying to the traditional ceremonies on the campus on May 17.

Shown at top with her hand on the throttle is the May Queen—Mary Louise Griffith of Meyersdale. A home economics major, Miss Griffith was chairman of general activities on this year's Senate and was active in YWCA, Lambda Gamma and Student Volunteers.

One-Third of Goal

THE College passed the one-third mark in its drive toward a one million dollar Postwar Fund with announcement that the Huntingdon for Juniata campaign exceeded its goal with a subscribed total of $103,851.44.

President Calvert N. Ellis said at that time that the College has attained its initial objective with a total of $364,578 in pledges and contributions from all campaigns.

During the past six months since the start of the Huntingdon campaign, Juniata College has realized major advances in the overall effort for a million-dollar fund. Huntingdon's dynamic task in surpassing its goal provided the "most tremendous boost" in that period.

Campaigns in Blair county, the Harrisburg-Lancaster area, and the Pittsburgh district have been held since the Huntingdon campaign to substantially increase the total, President Ellis explained.

President Ellis said that construction on the enlarged Dining Hall and Social Center and the Memorial Physical Education Building would begin as soon as building conditions are favorable. These buildings have been the first objectives in the development program.

Juniata's Planning Commission has been reluctant to advocate an immediate "go ahead" on construction of the buildings because of its apprehension over obtaining inferior structures at the present inflated price-level.

It is planned that the social center will be located on the ground floor of Brumbaugh and Oneida Halls and will utilize a great deal of space already available. Remodeling of present space will provide for a snack shop, a college post office and bookstore and a co-educational lounge.

The new addition to the Dining Hall will make possible increased dining facilities, a larger serving room and a co-educational game room. A feature of the social center will be a lounge adjacent to the entrance to the dining hall.

Meanwhile, the college is proceeding with plans for raising the additional funds which will be used for other buildings and for endowment. It is hoped that the entire program will be completed by the seventy-fifth anniversary celebration in 1951.

Juniata's Postwar Fund was established in the fall of 1945 after more than one year of study by a Planning Commission. This fund is to provide for erection of five new buildings, for the enlargement of two present ones and for $400,000 additional endowment.

Alumni Elections

Election of the Rev. George L. Detweiler '28, pastor of the Waynesboro Church of the Brethren, as alumni representative on the board of trustees was announced Alumni Day. The Rev. Detweiler was elected over Ralph W. E. Leiter, Philadelphia, and Robert B. Patrick, Hershey, and succeeds Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livengood, Jr.

W. Emmert Swigart '06, of Huntingdon, took over officially as national president of the Alumni Association. Earl W. Dickey '27, of Altoona, was elected first vice-president, and Miss Gladys Mikesell '30, of Waynesboro, second vice-president.

James I. Weimer '27, of Huntingdon, was named to the executive committee to succeed C. Jewett Henry '29.

Admission Problems

THE admission situation continues difficult as applications flow uninterruptedly across the desk of Registrar Pressley L. Crummy who has been serving as director of admissions. After a suspension period to permit evaluation of applications on hand, the Admissions Office is once again receiving those for September, 1947.

Present indications are that possibly only one out of every nine who made inquiries will be given the nod when that class is finally set. To date, there have been 180 admitted to the freshman class.

Historical Skit

TURNING back the pages of history to an old classroom scene (model 1876), the freshman class produced a historical skit this year which candidly uncovers the wit and worry evident in the early days of the college.

The historical review was first given at the college's all-class night in March. Later it was presented by an all-freshman cast of 45 students. The skit was entitled "On the Sands of Time" and was recognized as the finest skit ever presented by a freshman class in the 10-year competition with other classes.

Aid Heifer Fund

JUNIATA students have taken a part in the job of putting war-ravaged farms back into the business of providing food for the hungry of the devastated countries of the world.

In a campaign sponsored by The Juniata, a total of more than $175 was raised for the purchase of a heifer which will be the start of a dairy herd on some war-torn farm—a herd to provide the milk, butter and cheese which is so desperately needed.

Donovan Beachley of Hagerstown, Md., business manager of the newspaper, accepted contributions in the three-week drive. In this undertaking, the Juniata co-operated in a nation-wide campaign by the Heifer Project committee, New Windsor, Md., to help the needy support themselves. The committee is an inter-faith organization receiving the support of most of the nation's churches.

Industrial Tour

IN ONE of the few excursions of its type, 23 seniors and juniors took a three-day tour of Western Pennsylvania industrial plants during April after the Spring recess. Most of the students were chemistry majors.

The group was accompanied by Dr. Donald M. Rockwell, professor of chemistry, and Dr. Raymond T. Davis Jr., instructor of chemistry. Included on the tour was a stop in Johnstown to survey operations at the Bethlehem Steel Company plant; laboratories of the Bureau of Mines and Mellon Institute, where Dr. Davis formerly served as a research chemist; Buhl Plantarium; Gulf Research and Development Company in Harmonville; and the Aluminum Company of America in New Kensington.

New Grid Coach

CROWDING the spring sports teams for campus headlines was announcement of William R. "Bill" Smaltz as head football coach of the Indians to succeed P. M. "Mike" Snider who stays on at College Hill as director of physical education.

Bill Smaltz was added to the Juniata coaching staff last fall to serve as Snider's assistant. He coached the backfield men, then directed the junior varsity basketball team and in the spring took over the duties of chief baseball mentor. His wife, Betty Rank Smaltz, is director of women's physical education and coaches girls' athletics at Juniata.

J.C.'s new head grid coach was one of the nation's top football tossers six years ago at Penn State. Bill was an outstanding fullback on the Nittany Lion teams of 1939-40-41 and climaxed his career by taking part in the East-West Shrine game played at New Orleans in January 1942. The "Bill Smaltz to Len Krouse" passing combination was recognized as the "best in the East" in 1941.

During his four years of Army service, Smaltz coached and played football at Camp Edwards, Mass., and Fort Bliss, Texas. He served as a staff sergeant with an anti-aircraft outfit in the Central Pacific.

Assistants for Smaltz have not been named.

spring. The frosh tallied 49 points to win the "grudge battle" from the sophomores by two points. Finishing a close third were the juniors with 40 points. One lone tie for first saved the seniors from a shutout with four points.

In off-campus basketball, a Juniata Frosh basketball quintet dropped a close ball game, 31-27, to lose the finals of the Huntingdon City Basketball League championships. The Frosh finished the regular schedule in a tie for third place, but advanced to the loop championship in playoff games.

* * *

More basketball: The Juniata College All-Stars blew a 20-10 first quarter lead and went down to defeat, 59-48, at the hands of the Altoona V. F. W. in an opening round contest of the Altoona YMCA Central Pennsylvania Open Cage tourney. Stan Welch of Mt. Union scored 21 points for Juniata.

* * *

Harry Maclay, 23-year-old Belleville junior who won a starting assignment at third base on the Indian nine, was elected vice-president of Senate for next year. Daniel E. Sell of Altoona, a two-miler on the track squad, is president.

* * *

The baseball team's veteran second baseman, Jim Kauffman, had more reason than one to celebrate after Juniata defeated the Pitt Panthers this spring. His wife presented him with a baby boy not many hours after the game.

* * *

Fourteen candidates appeared for Juniata's first postwar tennis team. Among those who saw regular action were: Franklin H. Bird Jr., Hollis, Long Island; Glenn P. Holsinger, Martinsburg; David Marschka, Erie; George C. Matthews, Johnstown; Wayne P. Shaulis, Somerset, and Robert M. Yoho, Huntingdon.

On the Links

GOLF entered the Juniata sports picture for the first time in the 71-year-old history of intercollegiate athletics at the College when the Indian fairway artists teed off in a schedule of five matches.

Six Huntingdon boys were included in a squad of nine which battled for position on the first Indian golf team. Jack E. Oller, a member of the faculty, coached the team.

Included among the team members were: Percy Blough Jr., Johnstown; John T. Burych, Mt. Union; Orville C. Dore, Huntingdon; J. Robert Gienger, Jr., Huntingdon; Harry W. Hagmeier, Huntingdon; Jay P. McCardell, Jr., Huntingdon; C. Blair Miller, Huntingdon; Jack M. Shuck, Lewistown; Harold W. Wagner, Huntingdon.

Diamond Dust

COACH BILL SMALTZ had hoped that his spring baseball tour would serve as a "training trip" for his squad which was handicapped by cold weather in early drills. It paid off in at least one important respect: Juniata defeated University of Pittsburgh, 8-2.

That wasn't the only victory by any means as the Indians chalked up one of Juniata's best baseball seasons with 10 wins in 14 games in the first season for Coach Smaltz.

Here's a rundown on the scores:

Juniata	7	Bridgewater	9
Juniata	3	Lebanon Valley	5
Juniata	7	Elizabethtown	6
Juniata	12	Dickinson	5
Juniata	8	Pittsburgh	2
Juniata	3	Albright	14
Juniata	8	Lebanon Valley	7
Juniata	6	Bucknell	3
Juniata	3	Dickinson	2
Juniata	7	Elizabethtown	2
Juniata	4	Bucknell	5
Juniata	8	Bridgewater	1
Juniata	8	Ursinus	3
Juniata	6	St. Francis	2

Indeed, the Indians victory over the Panthers was one of the highlights of the spring sports season.

Veteran Dick Frick, a slight-built righthanded senior from Sellersville, limited the invaders from Pittsburgh playing on College Field to four lone singles. Frick did not permit a hit until the seventh frame; he walked four and struck out three.

Bob Holsinger's sharp single scored Ray Clapperton and Don Everhart to give Juniata a two-run advantage in the first inning. The Indians iced the game with four tallies in the fourth and added a pair of insurance runs in the eighth. Pitt's first tally came on a steal of home and its second run was recorded after an error and two blooper hits.

In turning back the Mitterling-coached Panthers, Juniata was able to pull the series standing between the two schools a little closer. The record now reads: Juniata four wins, Pitt five. Prior to the J.C. game this season, Pitt had been undefeated.

Coach Smaltz was able to send an all-veteran nine against the Pittsburghers just as he was able to do in most of his remaining games. The battery of Frick and Everhart had seen action in previous games against Pitt. Both played last spring and summer.

Ray Clapperton, McKees Rocks senior and captain, was one of four infield holdovers. He lined up at shortstop flanked by Harry Maclay, Belleville, at third; Jim Kauffman, Waynesboro, at second; and Dick Stever, Tyrone, at first. A trio of lefthanders, Bob Holsinger, Martinsburg, Jack Lang, Huntingdon, and Floyd Eisenhart, Perkasio, patrolled the outfield.

A Johnstown clergyman, the Rev. J. Dommer Hammer, who received his early education in the public schools in Bedford County and attended the college, died unexpectedly Monday, February 10, 1947. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

The Rev. Hammer, who had been pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical United Brethren Church, Johnstown, had preached a sermon to his congregation the day before his death. He was born September 14, 1895 in Bedford, a son of John B. and Mary Walker Hammer. His first work in the ministry was in 1918 when he served the Ligonier charge while a student in college. He began his career as assistant pastor in Oil City and in 1920 took his first full-time pastorate in Salix where he served seven years before being transferred to Ligonier.

After seven years at Ligonier, the Rev. Hammer was given the pastorate at the First Evangelical Church in Greensburg. He went to Johnstown in 1939 to fill the position he held until his death.

Originating the Seeds of Good Will project of the Brethren Service Committee, Joseph S. Shelly has been directing the collection of vegetable and farm seeds in United States for shipment to Europe. This work has received nation-wide recognition not only because of its importance to the famine-stricken people but also because of the efficiency and organization of the program.

During the past year this Service shipped 69,972 pounds of vegetable seeds and several car loads of farm seeds, such as wheat, oats, rye and corn, to Europe. Care was taken in selecting only the best varieties suitable for growth in the countries to which shipped.

Mr. Shelly was supervisor of agriculture at the Stoneycreek Consolidated School in Shanksville, Pa., for three years.

Evelyn R. Aikey is teaching algebra and geometry at Hightstown, N.J., High School. She is living at 245 Stockton St., Hightstown, N.J.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Morse announced the birth of their third child, Elizabeth Anne, on April 9, 1947. "We are slowly becoming accustomed to the idea of having a daughter," writes Ken and Marjorie.

Old Alum Likes Juniatian

Take it from William Beery '82, one of Juniata's oldest alumni, The Juniatian (student weekly newspaper) now has an "improved appearance."

In a recent letter, Mr. Beery writes: "In the first place, the type is much better . . . with the larger, clearer type it is a joy to read . . . I am so pleased with the improved appearance of the Juniatian that I must congratulate those who are responsible for it."

Mr. Beery further says: "While much of the matter contained in the paper is meant especially for those on the campus, I want to tell you that I read most of it with interest and appreciation. I was especially interested to learn about the Juniatian campaign to raise money for the heifer fund . . ."

"The reading of the Juniatian always stirs up pleasant memories of the years spent on College Hill."

Mr. Beery is now living at 915 Larkin Ave., Elgin, Ill.

and was a teacher and supervisor at the Pennsylvania Industrial School.

1936

Mr. John Stauffer, CR
6 Avon Place, Cambridge 40, Mass.

Irene McCormick is teaching in Lower Merion High School. She now has her master's degree from Columbia University.

Since 1940, David J. Wieand has been on the faculty of Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, Ill., where he is associate professor of Biblical literature. He is a member of the Chicago Society of Biblical Research and of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. A Ph.D. was added to his name last summer when he was awarded a degree from the University of Chicago. The subject of his dissertation was "Subject-Verb-Object Relationship in Principal Clauses in the Gospels and Acts."

Word from D. Warren Craik reveals that he expects to receive his Ph.D. degree in entomology at the University of Kansas this June. He has been teaching four laboratory classes in general biology in addition to his graduate work. The Craiks have two sons, David Dale, two and one-half years old, and Robert Alan, who was born in January, 1947. They reside at 826 Missouri St., Lawrence, Kansas.

A June, 1946, bridal announcement reveals that Marion Derk, daughter of Mrs. Flora E. Fisher, became the bride of John Stark McCartney on June 22, 1946, in Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. J. Melvin Rhodes, CR
RD 1, Johnstown, Pa.

When an alumna writes and admits that she has been "inactive," that's news. And the letter of Mrs. (Louise McElroy) William H. Baird explains it this way: "Since my graduation from Juniata in 1938, I have been a very inactive alumna and would like to bring myself up to date as far as possible." Louise goes on to say that her family includes a little girl, Linda Jane, age four and one-half, and a boy, William Frank, age three. The Bairds' address is Box 165, Avis, Pa.

John Oberly, 100 Brandywine Pl., S.W., Washington 20, D.C., has been employed at the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington since 1942. He was a radio engineer during the war. He is now working in astrophysics, sending spectrographic equipment up through the earth's atmosphere in German V-2 rockets.

An urgent need for doctors in Portage, Pa., has been passed along by Mahlon Hoover. He pointed out that the town is planning a community hospital in the near future which will require medical men. "Thought you might know of one or two good young fellows who would like to get into small town practice," is the way Mr. Hoover puts it in his letter.

Bedford, Pa.

An active Girl Scout worker, L. Helen Pelan, 706 Oneida Street, Huntingdon, died in March. Born and raised in Huntingdon, Miss Pelan majored in sociology at Juniata. She was one of the most active participants in the Women's Athletic Association and was president in her senior year. After graduation, she attended a Girl Scout training course in Philadelphia and became an assistant field director in the Syracuse, N.Y. district. Her program was very successful, but at the beginning of the war she returned to take a position in Tyrone. She had been working in the Huntingdon office of the Department of Public Assistance at the time of her death.

Philip Meiss is with the Analytical and Physical Chemistry Division of the United States Department of Agriculture Laboratory in Philadelphia.

Flying Schrefflers

JUNIATA boasts “the flying Schrefflers,” and they aren’t a trapeze team either. The three Schreffler brothers, Roy, Bob and Tom, really fly.

This trio of brothers are all freshmen. They own their own plane, a Piper J-3 tandem model, and rent hangar space for it at the Huntingdon Airport. And on weekends they fly to their home in Philipsburg, Pa. That trip takes about 25 to 30 minutes depending upon the weather, but to do it by automobile it takes about an hour and fifteen minutes.

Bob, the oldest at 23, has a commercial pilot’s license; Roy, 22, has a solo license, and Tom, the youngest at 18, has a private license. Bob says that he seldom misses a weekend and Tom goes along on most of the trips. However, Roy is married and lives with his wife in Huntingdon and does not fly as often.

Bob became interested in flying when he worked for the Piper plant in Lock Haven when he was 16 years old. He obtained his license at that age. During the war he served as a ground crewman with the Army Air Forces and did some flying for the War Training Service. His main service was with the Air Transport Command in the Bahamas.

Tom learned to fly while he was still in high school and also had his license when he was 16. He was too young to see service in the Army. Roy was in the Tank Destroyer Corps and served in the European Theater.

On their flights to Philipsburg, Bob has done most of the flying. And he has had several narrow escapes, too. He tells of “just missing Tussey Mountain” last fall during a heavy overcast. Sandy Ridge Mountain with an elevation of 2,080 feet is the highest point en route between Huntingdon and Philipsburg. The Huntingdon airport elevation is 650 feet.

Bob has tried in vain to persuade his mother to go up with him, but she has remained “firmly” on the ground. However, his grandmother, 70-year-old Mrs. Minnie Schreffler of Pine Grove, has flown with him and liked it. “Next time, she wants to go above the clouds,” Bob says.

Mr. Charles Calvert Ellis, CR
212 Crestmont Terrace,
Collingswood, N. J.

James M. Leader, of Altoona, received his Master of Arts degree at Bucknell University’s annual mid-winter commencement exercises, Feb. 1. For the past four years he taught social studies and coached basketball and baseball teams at the McVeytown-Oliver High School at McVeytown.

Robert Cupper and his family are in the Pittsburgh area. Bob is with the Carbide and Carbon Chemical Company at Mellon Institute.

Doris Caldwell, of Lewistown, who sailed for China in February, has listed her address at College of Chinese Studies, 5 Tungssu Toutiao Hujung, Peiping, China. She will be there until the Fall of 1947.

Kenneth Raymond was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Brown on January 29, 1947. Mrs. Brown was formerly Alice Landenberger.

If you are interested in the possible uses of vegetable wastes as a source of nutritive substances, Raymond T. Merrow may have the answer. Ray is working in the Vegetable Utilization Section of the Biochemical Division in Philadelphia’s U. S. Department of Agriculture Laboratory. He writes that his application for admission has been accepted by the graduate school of the University of Colorado and he definitely expects to enter there in the Fall. His present address is 808 E. Willow Grove Ave., Philadelphia 18, Pa.

James Woomer is promoting the Cub Scout movement in Portage, Pa., and has opened a Youth Center at his church, the Bethany Evangelical United Brethren.

Pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Windber is Robert Shoup.

On October 19, 1946, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Biss announced the birth of a daughter, Carolyn Doris. Ted received his Bachelor of Science degree at Juniata in January of this year.

1941

Centre Hall, Pa.

Paul Haines has become the third Juniatian to go to work in the United States Department of Agriculture laboratory in Philadelphia. He is concerned mainly with nicotine chemistry in his work in the Tobacco Utilization Section of the Biochemical Division. Phil Meiss and Raymond T. Merrow also are employed in the laboratories.

Mrs. James Morgan is now an instructor in the English department at West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia.

Mr. Herbert Landes, CR
1 Bay Ave., Garage Apt.
Larchmont, N. Y.

Emma Grace Ritchey of Schellsburg, Pa., has been actively engaged in overseas work at the Brethren Service

Committee's chief European center at Brussels, Belgium. In this position she handles many of the difficult details connected with the distribution of Brethren relief supplies in many countries throughout Europe. Emma Grace taught home economics, chemistry and art in high school before joining the foreign relief staff of the Brethren Service Committee. Her efforts have been described as "excellent representation of the goodwill of the Church of the Brethren young people for our less fortunate brethren across the sea."

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stevenson announced the birth of a daughter, Nancy LaRue, on March 19, 1947. The Stevensons are living at 1232 Telford Lane, Clearfield Village, Bethlehem, Pa. Mrs. Stevenson will be remembered as June Fisher.

Miss Jane Glendenning, CR

Box 177, RD 3, Altoona, Pa.

Gerry Baer has been serving as a junior home economics consultant for Public Service Electric and Gas of New Jersey. She is spending her training period in the Camden office.

Another busy Juniata musician is Catherine Maloy who is teaching in Tyrone Public Schools. She informs that her supervising is "going along fine . . . it is quite a responsibility." In addition to teaching 15 junior high music classes, Cathy has a mixed chorus, two girls' choruses, and supervises three grade schools in the afternoon.

Betty Boucher is attending Peter Bent Brigham Hospital at Harvard where she is serving a year's internship in dietetics. She also is taking courses at Harvard for her master's degree.

Second grade children say hello every morning to Betty Brumbaugh who is teaching that grade in the Altoona Public Schools.

Janice Dunkle, ex, is located at Port Washington, L. I., N. Y. She is reported as being "engaged."

On September 15, 1946, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farnsworth announced the birth of a daughter.

New Twist to Teaching

A NEW twist has been added to education—but it has taken many weeks for the news to twist its way up to College Hill that Evelyn Edkins '44 invented the "phonic wheel" while teaching in Sharpsburg last year.

It's merely a plastic gadget—a moving disc within a stationary rim—by which words are formed to aid in pronunciation and reading. By a simple flick of the wrist, word beginnings printed on the disc are matched with word endings on the rim. In this way, hundreds of separate words may be spelled.

As Miss Edkins puts it: "The idea behind the wheel is to teach word recognition and pronunciation. Good reading naturally follows." For the most part, the teacher has used the wheel to instruct the children individually.

The stationary part has word endings like "ay." By moving the disc, the student forms words like "day," "hay," "stay," and "play." The wheel forms nearly 1,000 words. Her first models were made of paper and cardboard, but an engineer friend later designed the plastic device.

The story of Miss Edkins and her round spelling book appeared in an issue of The American Weekly. She was shown in a photograph with one of her second grade pupils. Miss Edkins is now in Ebensburg.

Buying Survey

SIXTY Huntingdon families have been surveyed by students in a principles of marketing class to determine the buying tendencies in these times of varying prices.

In the analysis, which was made by a committee from the class, such factors as "the busiest day of the week for buying . . . the average prices paid for specific commodities . . . the average size of container which is bought . . . have been tabulated, according to J. Robert Miller, instructor.

Honor Harry Rohrer

EVEN after retirement, Harry W. Rohrer '12 is continuing work of service in Georgia. Latest word from the southern state discloses that he is now doing work with the USO and the United China Relief People.

Last Fall, representatives of the YMCA from many sections of Georgia gathered in Atlanta to attend a "fellowship dinner" in honor of Mr. Rohrer who retired as Secretary of the State YMCA Council of Georgia after 17 years of service. At that time he was presented with an inscribed certificate recognizing his years of service with the YMCA, a bound volume of letters from hundreds of his friends, and a $500 bond.

Mr. Rohrer, who went to Atlanta from Louisville in 1929, has recalled the work of the YMCA during those 17 years. Under his administration the number of YMCA units in the state increased from 88 to 387 and the number of members of Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs increased from 1,325 to 8,631.

Dr. James Lee Ellenwood, secretary of the New York State YMCA, paid a tribute to Mr. Rohrer's work and said that he had gained national attention by organizing YMCAs in the small cities and towns in Georgia.

Following his retirement, an editorial in the Atlanta Constitution praised Harry Rohrer with these words: "Few men have contributed so much to the formation of Christian citizenship in this state."

Mr. and Mrs. Rohrer now reside at Plaster Road, Box 499, Atlanta, Ga.

Art Loan

CIRCULATING paintings are as much in demand as circulating books at the Juniata College Library.

Offering a unique service to the students of the college, the Library is accumulating a collection of prints of famous paintings which it lends in the same manner as books are loaned.

According to Miss Lillian M. Evans, college librarian, the project was undertaken "in the hope that students might be able to choose better pictures for their own collections after becoming familiar with the beautifully framed pictures by the great artists."

The project began under the auspices of the Juniata College Friends of the Library in 1940 at the direction of Miss Evans. Twenty-five prints, including Raphael's "Madonna of the Chair," and da Vinci's "Last Supper," were purchased for the original collection and were put into circulation.

Because of the war, prints were difficult to obtain and the project was temporarily discontinued. Miss Evans also was on leave of absence to serve as librarian at Army and Navy bases on the West Coast. This year, the project has been revived.

Eighteen prints were purchased and added to the collection this year and are in circulation among the students. Included in this group are such paintings as "Dutch Interior," by De Hooch, and "Gypsy Encampment," by Van Gogh. These paintings were exhibited recently.

Miss Evans said that plans are to continue adding to the circulating collection with the aid of the Friends of the Library and the Juniata Women's Leagues.

TUCKER CALLS!

The academic dignity of Juniata College's June Commencement ceremony was disturbed at one point. As an enrobed senior received his diploma, a very young voice cried out, "Daddy!"

It was the voice of three-year-old Donald "Tucker" Holmes, whose ex-GI daddy, Donald S. Holmes of Harrisburg, received a bachelor of science degree.

servation of Dr. C. C. Ellis, president emeritus of the College, in a recently published article entitled "The Christian Responsibility of the College Teacher."

The article appeared in Christian Education magazine and the Gospel Messenger, official publication of the Church of the Brethren.

Dr. Ellis wrote: "It is not contended that every teacher in a Christian college should be a trained theologian, though it has been well said that so long as teachers are men and not machines, they must accept responsibility in a measure for critical comment on many matters of vital concern to religious faith."

He further explained that "important as it is that we cultivate an attitude of unselfish devotion to our students and to our profession, there is also a relation to Christian truth for which the teacher must of necessity assume a measure of responsibility."

Guidance Research

A COMPARISON of scores on two vocational guidance testing techniques has been the subject of a research paper recently published in the Journal of Educational Research by Dr. Earl W. Seibert, assistant professor of psychology at the college.

The paper compares data on a new measure of interest which the author designates as the Job

Qualification Inventory and an older measure known as the Kuder Preference Record. It is regarded as a valuable aid for educators in carrying out a counseling program.

"Many persons have shown interest in the use of individual inventories in guidance programs," Dr. Seibert explained. He said that the Job Qualification Inventory "seems to be more useful with older individuals who have had a variety of work experience and who are looking for an appraisal of their occupational possibilities for the future."

From Distant Lands

IMPRESSIONS and reflections of a trio of Juniata students from foreign lands has been featuring programs at various Rotary clubs throughout central Pennsylvania. Representing the International Relations Club of the college, the students have been discussing differences in the way of living, the political situations, educational trends, and other timely topics.

The students are Consuelo Garcia, a junior from Managua, Nicaragua; Kari Mo, a junior from Drammen, Norway; and Ferdose Chase, freshman from Teheran, Iran. Jack C. Buckle, Cumberland, Md., junior, serves as moderator of the group.

Principal interest in the panel develops around the discussion of education. Each of the girls is questioned on the plan of education in her country, name its leading colleges and universities, describe its policy on the exchange of students, and tell why she selected Juniata College.

Miss Garcia, whose home has been the theme of a hit song, "Managua Nicaragua," is a chemistry major at Juniata. The representative from Norway, Miss Mo, is interested in teaching. Miss Chase, who now resides in Rome, Pa., is majoring in social studies.

FOLLOW YOUR INDIAN TEAM

FROM the kick-off with Westminster at College Field on October 4 until the closing minute of the Lebanon Valley game on November 22, the Juniata football schedule may well be crammed with excitement next Fall. The Indian team meets six of its last year's opponents plus one newcomer.

Alumni Homecoming will be November 8 with Ursinus as the attraction and big things are planned at Huntingdon for that day.

Here's the Schedule:

Oct. 4	Westminster	Huntingdon, Pa.
Oct. 11	Alliance	Cambridge Springs, Pa.
Oct. 25	Susquehanna	Selinsgrove, Pa.
Nov. 1	Alfred	Alfred, N. Y.
Nov. 8	Ursinus	Huntingdon, Pa.
Nov. 15	Albright	Reading, Pa.
Nov. 22	Lebanon Valley	Huntingdon, Pa.

Plan now to cheer your Indian team to victory this fall.

Do You Know Our ABCs?

Accuracy . . .

Clarity . . .

YES, when the Alumni Association publishes its next Alumni Record of Juniata College, it will stress accurate . . . brief . . . clear information.

Publication of a complete catalog of graduates and non-graduates of Juniata is being planned for the near future. Every effort will be made to bring the record up to date with names, addresses, educational data, and facts pertaining to life work.

The accuracy of this volume will be measured in the cooperation obtained from every past and present Juniata student.

When the Alumni Association sends you its questionnaire for the Alumni Record (not to be confused with the Service Record of World War II) kindly give it top priority and send the completed form to the Alumni office by return mail.
